Sticky knowledge

	You can seek support from trusted adults including teachers, parents, carers and friends.
	If you're not at school and need help, you can talk to an adult at home or a trusted relative, like an aunt, uncle, or grandparent. If you don't feel comfortable talking to someone you know, you can also contact a helpline, like Childline
	If you or someone you know is worried about drugs, there are free helplines, like Childline or FRANK , where you can speak to someone who understands and can help you make good choices.
	It is important to make sure you balance time spent online with other activities to ensure you have healthy mental health.
	The sun can be good for us as it provides us with vitamin D. Over exposure to it can be bad as it can cause sunburn and damage to the skin, including skin cancer. To protect ourselves we must wear sun cream and a hat and take shade on hot sunny days.
	To keep our teeth clean we must brush and floss twice daily. Make sure to brush all surfaces of your teeth, and don't forget to floss between them to get rid of food and plaque that your toothbrush can't reach. Visits to the dentist are important. Diet can affect oral health, especially foods high in sugar.
	In an emergency situation we must call 999 and report which service we need. Always give calm clear instructions on what the problem is, where you are and what help you need.
	People express grief and bereavement in different ways. This is ok. It is important to be able to express grief to help people manage bereavements .
